

ABSTRACT

A package structure includes a lead frame having a plurality of leads, each of which includes a first recession, at least a first device, and a plurality of solder joints respectively positioned in the first recessions for connecting the first device to the lead frame.